

A unique leadership workshop for managers and executives

July 27-28

WINONA STATE UNIVERSITY WINONA, MN

Nationally-recognized speaker and theater artist David Mann reveals how the rhetorical techniques Shakespeare used can have tangible results in business.

Participants learn to engage clients, communicate a vision, influence change, motivate teams, and move customers to action with persuasive power.

TUITION

Includes two-day workshop, meals and performance of Julius Caesar. Complete agenda available online.

$549 /person by May 15 ($599 after)

$1,000 Two participants

$2,000 Four participants plus one complimentary registration (5 total)

REGISTER TODAY - SPACE IS LIMITED

To register, visit

www.wsu.mn/center-stage-leadership or WSU Adult & Continuing Ed.

507.457.5080

CENTER STAGE LEADERSHIP

Persuasion and Influence for Leaders

"It was powerful. This workshop provided quick, easy-to-incorporate suggestions that can be immediately put into practice."

Kyle Cotton, Corey Allen, Donny Repsher, Robert Montgomery and Michael Fitzpatrick in Henry V. GRSF 2013. Directed by James Edmondson. Photo by Michal Daniel.

A special collaboration with:

Adult & Continuing Education

David Mann has developed training seminars for Fortune 500 companies, and his legal presentation and storytelling techniques have won cases nationwide. He has directed for Children's Theater, Park Square Theater and Torch Theater, and he was a member of GRSF's inaugural acting company.

